Art Unit: ***

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 15-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 15-19 depend from a cancelled claim, rendering the claims indefinite.

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

4. Claims 1,3-8,11-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Zimmer (6,063,149).

The rejection is maintained and applied to other claims for reasons of record in Paper mailed 7/03. Applicant's arguments filed 4/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicant argues that the reference does not disclose the claimed nano-crystalline diamond layer or specific layers. This is not found persuasive since the reference does disclose a first layer, then a transitional layer then a final surface layer containing crystals less than 3 micron since anticipates the claimed invention. The reference also discloses different process conditions providing for each layer and thus the rejection stands. The applicant has failed to provide factual evidence that the coefficient of thermal expansion of the instant invention is different in kind from the reference. The applicant is reminded that it is elementary that the mere recitation of a newly discovered function or property, inherently possessed by things in the prior art, does not cause a claim drawn to distinguish over the prior art. Additionally, where the Patent Office has reason to believe that the functional limitation asserted to be critical for establish novelty in the claimed subject matter may, in fact, be an inherent characteristic of the prior art, it possesses the authority to require the applicant to prove that the subject matter shown to be in the prior art does not possess the characteristic relied on. (In re Swinehart, 169 USPQ 226 (CCPA 1971)).

5. Claims 1-5,8-9,11-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Crystallume (EP 0 596 619).

The rejection is maintained for reasons of record in Paper mailed 7/03. Applicant's arguments filed 4/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicant argues that the reference does not disclose the claimed nano-crystalline diamond layer or the claimed thermal expansion. The reference discloses different process conditions providing for each layer and thus the thermal expansion in each layer will be different thus the rejection stands.

Art Unit: ***

The applicant has failed to provide factual evidence that the crystal size of the second layer is different in kind from the reference. The applicant is reminded that it is elementary that the mere recitation of a newly discovered function or property, inherently possessed by things in the prior art, does not cause a claim drawn to distinguish over the prior art. Additionally, where the Patent Office has reason to believe that the functional limitation asserted to be critical for establish novelty in the claimed subject matter may, in fact, be an inherent characteristic of the prior art, it possesses the authority to require the applicant to prove that the subject matter shown to be in the prior art does not possess the characteristic relied on. (In re Swinehart, 169 USPQ 226 (CCPA 1971)).

6. Claims 1,2-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hirano et al (6,066,339) or White (5,942,317).

Hirano et al or White discloses the claimed layers within the claimed thickness having different carbon content and thus the claimed thermal expansion is considered inherent.

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: ***

8. A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
